

Matrimonial website dedicated to adopted children

Due to, patriarchal framework, the Indian society is still in clutches of various biases. Generally, while adopting a child, especially a girl, people get worried about- “who will accept her in the ‘Marriage Market’? Or will she be a burden to our family? In a society where practices of dowry and gender bias against women, still prevail people are not very keen on having a girl child. This mental set up has resulted in imbalance between the birth rate of girl child and has encouraged illegal practices of abortions and pre-determination of child sex.

Although there are legal agencies for adoption and there is a welcoming trend towards the cause, the ‘Need of the Hour’ is to establish a platform for adopted children and their parents to find a match for their children. The site will provide a permanent platform for ‘Matrimonial Alliance’ of their adopted children, especially the daughters!

The USP of this website is, to not only create platform for the adopted ones, but to encourage socially committed younger generation to come forward and accept matrimonial alliance with adopted children, as their social commitment and responsibility. It also tries to set a trend for future generations of ‘Have one – Adopt one’.
